Amicus (Fourteen)

Read Theodore John Kaczynski's Manifesto - Was he Wrong? He was trying to warn and save us. The world's smartest man, Theoretical physicist Stephen Hawking and Kaczynski agreed on what was going to destroy Mankind and no one listened to either one of them.

The only way for Mankind to be saved is if the Federal Judiciary honors the Constitution, the First Amendment and specifically the last sentence of the First Amendment: "and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances."

I must emphasize this: Kaczynski's actions were wrong (illegal) and did no good. This brilliant man had so much to offer the world and yet he was insane much like many of our famous scientists, artists, politicians, etc. His Manifesto was written 30 years ago.

The problem here is that his insanity was due to a US Government experiment called MKUltra. It was manmade. Our wonderful Government created the "Unabomber". Product of USA.

WHO AND WHAT ELSE HAS OUR GOVERNMENT CREATED? THE KATRINA VIRUS? US TROOPS
MURDERING AMERICANS? THE PERFECT MILITARY WEAPON? THIS PERFECT MILITARY WEAPON IS A SUICIDE WEAPON THAT HAS BEEN RELEASED ON US. Products of USA.

My actions have all been legal and they have not done any good. I have attempted to promote my quest to save Mankind through ever imaginable avenue possible. I even reached out to Theodore "Unabomber" John Kaczynski. I would have asked the devil for help if I thought it would save Mankind.

Violence is not the answer and I have written extensively on that. People don't truly see the message when you commit violence. I want the pendulum to be centered and to accomplish that my quest has to be peaceful. Anything else would destroy my life's work and credibility.

Time, math and the Russians will ensure that the truth comes out.

To the censor: you should review what I am sharing because I am fighting to save your life and the lives of your loved ones. You to have the ability to help me save mankind.

My name is Federal Whistleblower Captain David Andrew Christenson and I am trying to save mankind. I hope that the two of you may find redemption in what I am about to share with you. The two of you have the ability to help me save mankind.

I know that my writings are incoherent, disjointed and unbelievable. I was never trained to be a Federal Whistleblower nor is there a school. What happened to me was insidious.

During Hurricane Katrina the US Military murdered Americans in violation of the Constitution and the Posse Act. (Side note: American Sniper Chris Kyle admitted to doing so and they want to give him the Medal of Honor.)

Chemical warfare contaminants leaked into the environment. I call these contaminants the "Katrina Virus". Many people died and will die.

The perfect military weapon is an organic, easy to disperse, dissipates in five days chemical warfare weapon that causes the opposing army to commit suicide.

Suicides will outnumber births in the next 10-35 years at current growth rates.

22 veterans commit suicide every day. More veterans will die in the next eight years then have died in combat since World War II.

Stephen Hawking agrees with me about the Katrina Virus

"GENETICALLY ENGINEERED VIRUS" is the biggest threat to mankind. Most threats to humans come from science and technology, warns Hawking

Speaking to the Radio Times ahead of the BBC Reith Lecture, in which he will explain the science of black holes, Hawking said most of the threats humans now face come from advances in science and technology, such as nuclear weapons and genetically engineered viruses.

US adds cancer to list of illnesses linked to 9/11 terror attacks

By NBC News and wire services

September 11, 2012, 6:02 am NBCNews.com

Updated at 5:15 p.m. ET: The federal government on Monday added 14 categories of cancer to the list of illnesses linked to the 9/11 terror attacks, which brings added coverage to rescue workers and people living near ground zero on Sept. 11, 2001. The National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health approved the additions to the list of illnesses covered in the James Zadroga 9/11 Health and Compensation Act, which were proposed in June. The updated regulations take effect 30 days after the ruling is published in the Federal Register.

Read what you want. Maybe there is a way for you to help me save mankind and in the process for you to seek redemption.

I have and will continue to seek justice in a peaceable manner. Hopefully you will find my writings somewhat interesting.

Theodore John "Ted" Kaczynski,

Who in this world will you pick to play God?

Incoherent and disjointed but here we go. Please think about this:

Facts about Autism

https://www.autismspeaks.org/what-autism/facts-about-autism

Did you know ...

- Autism now affects 1 in 68 children and 1 in 42 boys (My projections show that it is now 1 in 25 boys)
- Autism prevalence figures are growing
- Autism is one of the fastest-growing developmental disorders in the U.S.
- Autism costs a family $60,000 a year on average
- Boys are nearly five times more likely than girls to have autism
- There is no medical detection or cure for autism

How can a country that is 18 trillion dollars in debt pay for autistic children? Our future will include selective breeding, eugenics, euthanasia and most importantly mass suicides. As parents age the cost to society becomes ever increasing.

In my quest to help mankind I have failed miserable. If your quest was to help mankind you have failed miserable. We can't beat a deck stacked with defective human beings especially when those human beings are the leaders and future leaders of our nation and world.

I asked my family and close friends for help. I begged them for help. They not only did not help me but they intentionally caused me harm. My uncle was a great influence on my life and one of the reasons that I attended the Air Force Academy. John, Joe and I were one year apart in age and very close at one time but that all changed when I stood up for myself and mankind.

My Uncle, Captain Donald Christenson is the father and grandfather of the following: my cousin Vice Admiral John Christenson who is the military attaché to NATO and Naval Academy graduate, my cousin Army Colonel/Doctor/Psychiatrist Joseph Christenson, my cousin Proctor and Gamble Tide Brand manager Lieutenant Mark Christenson and Naval Academy graduate and my second cousin Naval Academy Midshipmen Matthew Christenson. Each of them is a devote Catholic.

The attached article about the Tuskegee and Guatemala syphilis studies epitomizes my belief that we cannot save mankind. Do you know what a horrendous death it is to die from syphilis?

Odd side note: Mark works for Proctor and Gamble. Dr. Clarence J. Gamble was the founder of Proctor and Gamble and a huge supporter of Eugenics. Did you know the Nazis used the California manual on Eugenics as the templet for their manual? Did you know that our Supreme Court upheld state laws that dealt with Eugenics?

Eugenic Sterilization Laws Paul Lombardo, University of Virginia

http://www.eugenicsarchive.org/html/eugenics/essay8text.html

"The decision was appealed to United States Supreme Court. Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes Jr., himself a student of eugenics, wrote the formal opinion for the Court in the case of Buck v. Bell (1927). His opinion repeated the "facts" in Carrie's case, concluding that a "deficient" mother, daughter, and granddaughter justified the need for sterilization. The decision includes the now infamous words: It is better for all the world, if instead of waiting to execute degenerate offspring for crime or to let them starve for their imbecility, society can prevent those who are manifestly unfit from continuing their kind...Three generations of imbeciles are enough." (I must be a very delusional human being because the above statement I abhor. Who is he to play God?)

I just thought of this. Do you get a flu shot? Empirical evidence is confirming that flu shots destroy our immune system. Look at the attachment from the CDC and study it. Last week 7.2%/6.8% of Americans died from flu and pneumonia. Why? Look at the number of people that went to the doctor with flu symptoms and how many tested positive for the flu. What do the other 97% have?

They withheld penicillin from syphilis infected black men for over 40 years. These same defective human beings will continue to give us flu shots knowing that our immune system(s) are being destroyed.

I have failed mankind and the result is the genocide of the human race by its own hand.

Godspeed,

Studies show 'dark chapter' of medical research By Elizabeth Landau, CNN October 1, 2010 6:08 p.m. EDT

http://www.cnn.com/2010/HEALTH/10/01/guatemala.syphilis.tuskegee/#

CNN) — The Tuskegee syphilis experiment of the 20th century is often cited as the most famous example of unethical medical research. Now, evidence has emerged that it overlapped with a shorter study, also sponsored by U.S. government health agencies, in which human subjects were unknowingly being harmed by participating in an experiment.

Research from Wellesley College professor Susan Reverby has uncovered evidence of an experiment in Guatemala that infected people with sexually transmitted diseases in an effort to explore treatments. The U.S. government apologized for the research project on Friday, more than 60 years after the experiments ended. Officials said an investigation will be launched into the matter.

The Tuskegee and the Guatemala studies show what National Institutes of Health Director Francis Collins called a "a dark chapter in the history of medicine."

As unethical as the methods were, the basic research questions behind both studies were highly relevant at the time, said Peter Brown, medical anthropologist at Emory University. Research in Guatemala focused on the powers of penicillin; in Tuskegee, researchers wanted to know the natural history of syphilis.

"In a racist context, they thought [syphilis] might be different in African-Americans; the real unethical part in my mind had to do with denial of treatment and, most importantly, the denial of information about the study to the men involved," he said.

In 1926, syphilis was seen as a major health problem, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention; in 1928, about 25 percent of black employees at the Delta Pine and Land Company of Mississippi had tested positive for syphilis, according to Tuskegee University. A charity called the Julius Rosenwald Fund came to the U.S. Public Health Service to start a project to improve the health of African-Americans in the South.

But in 1929, the Great Depression began, and the Rosenwald Fund had to cut its funds for the treatment program.

The director of the U.S. Public Health Service, Dr. Taliaferro Clark, proposed salvaging the project by investigating the course of untreated syphilis.

Getting African-Americans to participate was not a challenge; most African-Americans did not have access to medical care at that time and the study provided free health exams, food and transportation, according to Tuskegee University.

But none of the patients who had syphilis was told that he carried the condition, and doctors did not give the patients sufficient treatment. Instead they were told they would get treatment for "bad blood," a phrase that connoted a variety of illnesses including syphilis, anemia and fatigue, the CDC said. The Tuskegee study, which began in the early 1930s, consisted of 399 African-American men with syphilis and 201 without, according to the CDC. The Tuskegee Institute partnered with the Public Health Service for an experiment that was supposed to last 6 months. Instead it lasted about 40 years. While the Tuskegee study was still going in the 1940s, other efforts that would never meet today's medical ethics standards were going on elsewhere. The Public Health Service did research at a U.S. prison in 1944 that involved injecting inmates with gonorrhea, Reverby said. That project was abandoned, and the Public Health Service turned to Guatemala to more closely examine syphilis and in what ways penicillin could treat or prevent it, Reverby said in documents posted on her website. "The whole fact that the Public Health Service was very aware about the ethical problems is very characteristic of American international health policy at the time, which was very condescending to other countries," Brown said.

It turns out that a physician at the Public Health Service, Dr. John C. Cutler, participated in both the Guatemala and the Tuskegee experiments. Cutler came to the Tuskegee project in the 1960s, according to Reverby, and continued to defend it even in the 1990s, long after it ended. Cutler died in 2003 at age 87.

The Guatemala syphilis research involved 696 subjects who came from the Guatemala National Penitentiary, army barracks and the National Mental Health Hospital, according to Reverby's research. These subjects did not give direct permission to participate. Instead, the authorities signed them up. There were also 772 patients exposed to gonorrhea and 142 subjects exposed to chancres, according to a CDC report.

Unlike the Tuskegee project, these participants were given the diseases as part of the experiment. "The doctors used prostitutes with the disease to pass it to the prisoners (sexual visits were allowed by law in Guatemalan prisons) and then did direct inoculations made from syphilis bacteria poured onto the men's penises or on forearms and faces that were slightly abraded when the 'normal exposure' produced little disease, or in a few cases through spinal punctures," Reverby wrote.

Many people wrongly believe that the Tuskegee study involved injecting subjects with syphilis, according to a 2008 study led by Ralph Katz of the NYU College of Dentistry. His survey found that more than 60 percent of both whites and blacks said they believed study subjects were injected with syphilis. Another important difference between the studies is that the subjects in Guatemala received penicillin after getting the sexually transmitted disease, Reverby wrote, although it's not clear whether everyone was cured.

In Tuskegee, on the other hand, the Public Health Service made sure that the subjects with syphilis did not get treatment from elsewhere. During World War II, draft boards agreed to lift the requirement of syphilis treatment for study participants, according to Tuskegee University.

Tuskegee study subjects continued to be excluded when the Public Health Service began giving other patients penicillin to treat syphilis in 1943. The agency set up Rapid Treatment Centers to treat the disease in 1947, helping to lower the overall syphilis rate; study subjects were still not treated, according to the CDC.

The Guatemalan study ended when "it proved difficult to transfer the disease and other priorities at home seemed more important," according to Reverby's paper. Cutler was told go back to the United States, she said. There he went on to work on an inoculation study at Sing Sing Prison in Ossining, New York, from 1953 to 1956, and later to Tuskegee. As for the participants in the Guatemalan study, there was some follow-up laboratory testing and observation until the early 1950s, the CDC said.

Tuskegee experiments stopped on a more dramatic note: in 1972 when Peter Buxton, who also worked for the Public Health Service, relayed information about the experiment to a reporter. By that time, 28 men had died of syphilis and 100 others had died of related complications. As a result of the experiment, at least 40 wives contracted syphilis and 19 children had it from birth.

The exposure of the study sparked congressional hearings in 1973 that led to a total overhaul of the Health, Education and Welfare rules concerning work with human subjects. A class-action lawsuit resulted in an out-of-court settlement of $10 million, with the U.S. government promising lifetime medical benefits and burial services to all study subjects still living. This program later expanded to include wives, widows and children.

President Bill Clinton publicly apologized to the victims of the Tuskegee experiments in an emotional speech in 1997, in which he said the study was shameful and racist.

"The people who ran the study at Tuskegee diminished the stature of man by abandoning the most basic ethical precepts. They forgot their pledge to heal and repair. They had the power to heal the survivors and all the others and they did not. Today, all we can do is apologize," he said at a ceremony at the White House.

Because of the ethical guidelines that all research institutions must follow, these kinds of studies would not happen in the United States today, Brown said.

Theodore John "Ted" Kaczynski,

Can and will you help mankind?

In the fall of 1980 I was subjected to a chemical warfare experiment. 4,400 Air Force Academy Cadets were injected with a virus/bacteria/fungi/etc. The Cadet Wing became so sick that school was canceled and the entire Cadet Wing was quarantined for three days. Many of the 4,400 Cadets were transported to the hospital. The Cadets were 18-24 years old and in outstanding physical shape. What made us so contagious? I was informed by an infectious disease doctor that if that injection had been given to the general population that 80% would have died.

The long term effect was apathy. I know that sounds stupid. It is a lack of caring for one's self and others.

I say this with 100% accuracy: not one of the Cadets that I attended the Air Force Academy should have made the rank of General. Those that did were hollow puppets. The current Superintendent is Michelle Johnson and the previous was Michael Gould. Mike was my football coach and Michelle and I were from Iowa. Both were incompetent and should not have made it past the rank of Major.

I asked the Air Force Academy, General Michelle Johnson, General Michael Gould and the Association of Graduates to send out a medical and mental health questionnaire to all graduates and their families. 22 Veterans and 40 military family members commit suicide every day so I felt that it was prudent to help my brothers and sisters.

This request caused me to be barred from the Air Force Academy for life. Please Review the attached package. I know it is disjointed. Read the first paragraph of the letter that barred me from the Academy. You would think that a military institution would protect my First Amendment Rights.

February 10th, 2016

I know you don't have access to the internet. All of the 750 videos that I produced and put on the internet have been removed and sanitized. Each video had its own internet address. Only our government would have the resources to remove the videos and censor me.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Project MKUltra

Project MKUltra—sometimes referred to as the CIA's mind control program—was the code name given to an illegal program of experiments on human subjects, designed and undertaken by the United States Central Intelligence Agency (CIA). Experiments on humans were intended to identify and develop drugs, alcohol, stick and poke tattoos, and procedures to be used in interrogations and torture, in order to weaken the individual to force confessions through mind control. Organized through the Scientific Intelligence Division of the CIA, the project coordinated with the Special Operations Division of the U.S. Army's Chemical Corps.[1] The program began in the early 1950s, was officially sanctioned in 1953, was reduced in scope in 1964, further curtailed in 1967 and officially halted in 1973.[2] The program engaged in many illegal activities;[3][4][5] in particular it used unwitting U.S. and Canadian citizens as its test subjects, which led to controversy regarding its legitimacy.3[6][7][8] MKUltra used numerous methodologies to manipulate people's mental states and alter brain functions, including the surreptitious administration of drugs (especially LSD) and other chemicals, hypnosis,[9] sensory deprivation, isolation, verbal and sexual abuse, as well as various forms of torture.[not verified in body] The scope of Project MKUltra was broad, with research undertaken at 80 institutions, including 44 colleges and universities, as well as hospitals, prisons, and pharmaceutical companies.[10] The CIA operated through these institutions using front organizations, although sometimes top officials at these institutions were aware of the CIA's involvement.[11] As the US Supreme Court later noted, MKULTRA was: concerned with "the research and development of chemical, biological, and radiological materials capable of employment in clandestine operations to control human behavior." The program consisted of some 149 subprojects which the Agency contracted out to various universities, research foundations, and similar institutions. At least 80 institutions and 185 private researchers participated. Because the Agency funded MKUltra indirectly, many of the participating individuals were unaware that they were dealing with the Agency.[12]

Project MKUltra was first brought to public attention in 1975 by the Church Committee of the U.S. Congress, and a Gerald Ford commission to investigate CIA activities within the United States. Investigative efforts were hampered by the fact that CIA Director Richard Helms ordered all MKUltra files destroyed in 1973; the Church Committee and Rockefeller Commission investigations relied on the sworn testimony of direct participants and on the relatively small number of documents that survived Helms' destruction order.[13]

In 1977, a Freedom of Information Act request uncovered a cache of 20,000 documents relating to project MKUltra, which led to Senate hearings later that same year.[3][14] In July 2001, some surviving information regarding MKUltra was declassified

Precursor experiments[edit]

In 1945 the Joint Intelligence Objectives Agency was established and given direct responsibility for Operation Paperclip. The program recruited former Nazi scientists,[15] some of whom had been identified and prosecuted as war criminals during the Nuremberg Trials.[16]

Several secret U.S. government projects grew out of Operation Paperclip.[citation needed] These projects included Project CHATTER (established 1947), and Project BLUEBIRD (established 1950), which was renamed Project ARTICHOKE in 1951. Their purpose was to study mind control, interrogation, behavior modification and related topics.

The project's intentionally oblique CIA cryptonym is made up of the digraph MK, meaning that the project was sponsored by the agency's Technical Services Staff, followed by the word Ultra (which had previously been used to designate the most secret classification of World War II intelligence). Other related cryptonyms include Project MKNAOMI and Project MKDELTA.

Headed by Sidney Gottlieb, the MKUltra project was started on the order of CIA director Allen Welsh Dulles on April 13, 1953.[17] Its aim was to develop mind-controlling drugs for use against the Soviet bloc, largely in response to alleged Soviet, Chinese, and North Korean use of mind control techniques on U.S. prisoners of war in Korea.[18] The CIA wanted to use similar methods on their own captives. The CIA was also interested in being able to manipulate foreign leaders with such techniques,[19] and would later invent several schemes to drug Fidel Castro. Experiments were often conducted without the subjects' knowledge or consent.[20] In some cases, academic researchers being funded through grants from CIA front organizations were unaware that their work was being used for these purposes.[21] In 1964, the project was renamed MKSEARCH. The project attempted to produce a perfect truth drug for use in interrogating suspected Soviet spies during the Cold War, and generally to explore any other possibilities of mind control. Another MKUltra effort, Subproject 54, was the Navy's top secret "Perfect Concussion" program, which was supposed to use sub-aural frequency blasts to erase memory. However, the program was never carried out.[22]

Because most MKUltra records were deliberately destroyed in 1973 by order of then CIA director Richard Helms, it has been difficult, if not impossible, for investigators to gain a complete understanding of the more than 150 individually funded research sub-projects sponsored by MKUltra and related CIA programs.[23]

The project began during a period of what Rupert Cornwell described as "paranoia" at the CIA, when America had lost its nuclear monopoly, and fear of Communism was at its height.[24] James Jesus Angleton, head of CIA counter-intelligence, believed that the organization had been penetrated by a mole at the highest levels.[24]

Goals[edit]

The Agency poured millions of dollars into studies examining methods of influencing and controlling the mind, and of enhancing their ability to extract information from resistant subjects during interrogation.[25][26]

Some historians have asserted that creating a "Manchurian Candidate" subject through "mind control" techniques was a goal of MKUltra and related CIA projects.[27] Alfred McCoy has claimed that the CIA attempted to focus media attention on these sorts of "ridiculous" programs, so that the public would not look at the primary goal of the research, which was developing effective methods of torture and interrogation. Such authors cite as one example that the CIA's KUBARK interrogation manual refers to "studies at McGill University", and that most of the techniques recommended in KUBARK are exactly those that researcher Donald Ewen Cameron used on his test subjects (sensory deprivation, drugs, isolation, etc.).[25]

One 1955 MKUltra document gives an indication of the size and range of the effort; this document refers to the study of an assortment of mind-altering substances described as follows:[28]

- 1. Substances which will promote illogical thinking and impulsiveness to the point where the recipient would be discredited in public.
- 2. Substances which increase the efficiency of mentation and perception.
- 3. Materials which will cause the victim to age faster/slower in maturity.
- 4. Materials which will promote the intoxicating effect of alcohol.
- 5.Materials which will produce the signs and symptoms of recognized diseases in a reversible way so that they may be used for malingering, etc.
- 6. Materials which will cause temporary/permanent brain damage and loss of memory.
- 7. Substances which will enhance the ability of individuals to withstand privation, torture and coercion during interrogation and so-called "brain-washing".
- 8. Materials and physical methods which will produce amnesia for events preceding and during their use.
- 9. Physical methods of producing shock and confusion over extended periods of time and capable of surreptitious use.
- 10. Substances which produce physical disablement such as paralysis of the legs, acute anemia, etc.
- 11. Substances which will produce a chemical that can cause blisters.
- 12. Substances which alter personality structure in such a way that the tendency of the recipient to become dependent upon another person is enhanced.
- 13.A material which will cause mental confusion of such a type that the individual under its influence will find it difficult to maintain a fabrication under questioning.
- 14. Substances which will lower the ambition and general working efficiency of men when administered in undetectable amounts.
- 15. Substances which promote weakness or distortion of the eyesight or hearing faculties, preferably without permanent effects.
- 16.A knockout pill which can surreptitiously be administered in drinks, food, cigarettes, as an aerosol, etc., which will be safe to use, provide a maximum of amnesia, and be suitable for use by agent types on an ad hoc basis.
- 17.A material which can be surreptitiously administered by the above routes and which in very small amounts will make it impossible for a person to perform physical activity.

Experiments[edit]

CIA documents suggest that "chemical, biological and radiological" means were investigated for the purpose of mind control as part of MKUltra.[29] A secret memorandum granted the MKUltra director up to six percent of the CIA research budget in fiscal year 1953, without oversight or accounting.[30] An estimated $10 million USD (roughly $87.5 million adjusted for inflation) or more was spent.[31] including but not limited to the following:

	(i) You will be in far too much of a hurry to do an adequate job of reviewing all those thousands of pages. Your mention of 5 days as بسسي	possibly an adequate time to review all the copies is ludicrous. The government estimates there are 40,000 pages. I believe this is an overestimate, so let's cut it in half and say 	20,000 pages. A simple computation shows that if you spend just one minute on each page, it will take you more than 8 weeks at 40 hours a week to review all 20,000 pages.
	When Julie Herrada asked for 90 days,

	(ii) You will not be motivated to do a good

Julie Herrada does have an interest in reviewing the copies carefully, because of course she wants a complete set of legible copies for the Labadie Collection.

provided are legible; it is also necessary to make sure that copies of all pages of all papers have in fact been provided; i.e., to make sure that no papers or pages thereof
have been omitted.
Discussions between me and Julie Herrada will surely be necessary for the purpose of ascertaining whether anything has been omitted from the copies provided by the government.
With 90 days allowed to review the papers, we can reasonably hope that there will be sufficient time for such discussions. But if you try to rush through the copies in 5 days, or even 10 days, there will be no time for such discussions.
(iv) AUSA Martel has really taken you

tions will be if you go through the papers

Theodore John "Ted" Kaczynski,

I sent this email to the Supreme Court: Theodore John "Ted" Kaczynski was a subject in the MKUltra experiments. The prosecution and defense attorneys knew and did nothing. The known side effects could have exonerated Mr. Kaczynski. The Federal Government was and is culpable. Mr. Kaczynski did not receive zealous representation. I was a subject in the follow up program to MKUltra. Federal Whistleblower Coast Guard Commander was also a subject but he was murdered by the DOJ.

Your attorneys knew but were not allowed to use this information. This is where I come in. The Danziger case in New Orleans is connected to the chemicals that were released. Ochsner Hospital and Tulane University were connected to the release of the Katrina Virus as well. I will explain in detail at a later date.

This is and was more important than just National Security. MKUtra had to do with the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. Lee Harvey Oswald was selected to be the Manchurian Candidate. He worked in the primate labs and chemical warfare labs in New Orleans. This is all documented. The CIA was involved. CIA Director Richard Helms destroyed all of the evidence that the CIA possessed.
